Hotels

Kolasin

For several decades Kolasin has positioned itself as an ideal destination, not only because of what town has to offer, the environment, the natural beauty of mountains, rivers and lakes, the altitude of 960 metres, but also because of its geographical and traffic position.

Just an hour's drive from Podgorica makes a world of difference. The climate here is much colder while the forests around the town generate a pleasant cool breeze. The hottest summer days are easy to bear, while in the winter there is plenty of snow on the mountains. Just staying in this area provides all the benefits of an air spa. The mountain climate, altitude and clear air, with a healthy natural food, guarantee refreshments and recovery.

Disregarding its potential, Kolasin is still just a small mountain town whose sleepy atmosphere is broken only by lively cafe life in which tourists, skiers and mountaineers mingle with the locals. Staying here can satisfy the tastes and needs of young and old, those who want serenity and those drawn by the magic of adventure and excitement. Fans of winter sports and snow sports are welcome in Jezerine ski center with 15 kilometers of trails for comfortable skiing for day and night as they are illuminated by flood lights. For those who are moderate, the choice of walking tours is almost endless, just as for ambitious and challenging hiking ventures. In addition from Kolasin there are directions to go to attractive destinations to Sljivovica, Cirilovac and Kljuc, with an altitude of 1.973 meters, whatever road you take, you will see beautiful landscapes, mountain springs, sights of mountains Bjelasica, Prokletije, Komovi and Sinjajevina.

A visit to Kolasin would be incomplete without experiencing Biogradska Gora, one of the three surviving virgin forests in Europe, located near Kolasin, at an altitude of 1.094 m, with one of its beautiful lakes - Lake Biograd. It is ideal for walking, hiking and relaxing in cool fresh mountain air.

Mojkovac

In the area between Bjelasica, Sinjajevina and Proscenske Mountains, National Parks „Biogradska gora“ and „Durmitor“ at the most beautiful European river Tara, there is Mojkovac, an oasis of natural beauty. Here you can expect almost untouched wild nature, abundant wildlife, remote mountain villages and serene life in the summer pastures. It is worth discovering, experiencing and enjoying the best guarded secrets of the mountains. You can look forward to the full enjoyment of nature, always in combination with an adventurous spirit and warm hospitality. In a relatively small area, you can see unique landscapes of forests and meadows, mountain peaks with glittering mountain streams.

Cultural and historical heritage consists of Brskovo, medieval archaeological localities, religious monuments, modern buildings, traditional houses, katuns... Almost millennial existence of an area that only nature could bestow, left traces of material and spiritual culture. With traditional heritage and modern achievements you can feel every step of the spontaneous hospitality of the local population, which knows how to welcome you, be hospitable and friendly. Mojkovac is was founded during the reign of Serbian King Uros I (1242 - 1276) in the center of the parish Brskovo, which was part of the Serbian Kingdom of Raska. It is said that the name Mojkovac was created by merging the word „my minted coins“ spoken by King Uros in the mine Brskovo. In the middle of the twentieth century Mojkovac was one of the major industrial centres of Montenegro. Today, because of the great natural resources, agriculture and tourism have been identified as a new priority sectors for the development of Mojkovac.

The greatest natural wealth of the municipality Mojkovac is a beautiful European river Tara, which poets called „Tear of Europe“. It is the longest river in Montenegro - 150 km, with clean and potable water at the entire course, with a lot of waterfalls and the other natural attractions.
